

Required Reading for First Quarter 2009 - Fifth Grade

You must read at least four books on your level this quarter. One of them should be fantasy and one should be a biography. You must receive an 80% or above on an Accelerated Reader test for each book in order for it to count towards your quarter requirement. If you would like to receive a + on your report card, you should read more than four books and one section of the newspaper. Then you would need to turn in a one paragraph summary of one newspaper article that interested you from the section of the paper you read.

In addition, you will be asked to complete two book reports on books you have read this quarter. There will be one "traditional" written report and one project. The written report is due on Wednesday, September 23. The project (based on the fantasy book) will be due the week of October 26-30. More details on these assignments will be coming soon.

I am aware of the reading requirements for first quarter.
